Please Note the following:

The John Simonds Trust (JST) undertakes to provide a safe environment for children to be in. Discipline problems however, can compromise children's safety. THE BEHAVIOUR OF CHILDREN DURING THE VISIT IS THE RESPONSIBILITY OF THE SCHOOL STAFF.

What do I have to do as a helper? -In general, helpers are there to supervise and support children during their visit. This is likely to include helping children with study activities and field work, assisting with environmental games and making sure that children behave responsibly and safely at all times. On camps this also includes providing and cooking evening meals, while the JST staff occupy the pupils. JST staff will help to light the BBQ and campfire but the school staff should lead the camp fire entertainment.

JST staff will remain on site until 9.30pm. After this time the school staff are responsible for the pupils
